This year, the Oregon State Bar and the Campaign for Equal Justice teamed up to award the Justice and Equity Cups. Lawyers from around the state encouraged colleagues from their region to donate to the CEJ. In return, regions were recognized for attorney participation during the 2011-2012 Annual Campaign. The Justice and Equity Cups were awarded at the Campaign’s Annual Awards Luncheon in February this year.

The Justice Cup was awarded to the region with the highest percentage of lawyers giving to the Campaign. The competition for the Justice Cup was fierce. Lane and Multnomah Counties both tirelessly vied for the Cup. Judy Edwards, former Executive Director of the Multnomah Bar Association, “borrowed” the Justice Cup and placed it in the MBA’s conference room to inspire all attorneys visiting the office. Lane County volunteers called their colleagues to encourage giving. As the race toward the cup drew to a close, Judy Edwards sent an email to all MBA members telling them, “Don’t let Lane County win the CEJ Justice Cup!” Jane Yates, Lane County Bar Association President, countered with an email to all LCBA members stating, “Let’s show Multnomah County that we are not second to any Bar Association in this state.”

Lane County won the Justice cup, with 28.7% of attorneys contributing to the Campaign. John Garlant, Chair of the Lane County CEJ Luncheon Committee, accepted the award. As John left the stage, he challenged other regions for next year by yelling, “Bring it!”

The Equity Cup was awarded to the region with the highest percentage increase of lawyers giving to the Campaign. Mitzi Naucier, Regional Director of the Albany legal aid office and OSB President told us, “When I first saw the (Equity) Cup, I said we were going to get that.” At every regional luncheon she attended, she told attorneys that Linn-Benton Counties would take home the Cup. Mitzi and Daniel Rayfield, President of the Linn-Benton Counties’ Bar Association, spent countless hours distributing contribution envelopes, speaking at bar meetings, and talking to their colleagues. As a result, Linn-Benton Counties had the highest percent increase of lawyers contributing to the Campaign at 6.19%. Josephine County was a close second at 5.19%.

Thank you to everyone who contributed. We look forward to the Justice and Equity Cup competition next year!

Welcome Janice Morgan, LASO’s New Executive Director

Janice Morgan has been appointed to lead Legal Aid Services of Oregon (LASO), Oregon’s federally funded statewide legal aid program. Janice takes the place of Executive Director Tom Matsuda, who has resigned after 10 years in order to return to his home state of Hawaii. Janice, a 1983 graduate of Georgetown University Law Center, served as the Program Director of LASO’s Farmworker program from 1998 to 2012 and has an extensive background in poverty law, having worked for programs in Michigan and in Washington, D.C. Morgan assumed the position of Executive Director April 2012.

According to Michael Mason, LASO’s Board Chair, “Morgan has developed a rich experience in coordinating legal services throughout Oregon and has shown her thoughtfulness and collaborative nature in strategic planning. Her passion for providing legal services to the poor and her thoroughness are just what LASO needs to overcome the funding challenges facing our legal aid programs. Our Board is very pleased to have this proven leader take the helm of LASO.”

We sat down with Janice to chat with her about the new position.

CEJ: How are you adjusting to your new position?

JM: It’s been pretty enjoyable so far. I’ve been visiting our offices, talking to staff and preparing for our strategic planning process. We’re expecting significant funding reductions for next year so we have to determine how best to meet client needs with fewer resources. Although I’m happy to be taking over this position, it’s certainly sobering to think about the challenges we’re facing.

I’m also getting to know many of our big supporters in the Campaign. It’s gratifying to know that there are so many smart, talented attorneys who are helping us to address access to justice issues in Oregon.

CEJ: Why did you want to become the Executive Director of LASO?

JM: It’s an organization that I have great respect for. I think it’s an effective, high-quality legal aid program that does great work for clients. The job presents significant challenges, particularly in this funding climate, but it’s good to face challenges in life. That’s how we grow, how we learn, it’s what gives us a sense of personal satisfaction and accomplishment.

Thank You, Tom Matsuda

After ten years as the Executive Director of Legal Aid Services of Oregon, Tom Matsuda resigned to return to his home state of Hawaii. Oregon legal aid programs and the Campaign for Equal Justice thank Tom for all his hard work. Tom served with good humor, grace under fire, and tremendous leadership skills. We are all grateful for Tom’s efforts in Oregon and we know we will keep in touch as he embarks on this next phase.

LAF-OFF: Supporting Legal Aid Through Laughter

During these tough times for legal aid, we asked attorneys to join us for a night of laughter in support of Oregon legal aid programs. On October 28, 2011, more than 250 attorneys joined us at the Mission Theater in Portland to support their fellow lawyer-comedians’ attempts to win the coveted rubber chicken award. LAF-OFF also featured performances by Portland’s premier all-male capella group, the Portland Timbre.

During two shows, we had the pleasure of hearing the comedic styles of David Aman, Drew Hartnett, Greg Levinson, Mitra Shahri, and Tyler Volm. Additionally, we were honored to have Hon. Cheryl Albrect, Steve Blackhurst, Hon. Rives Kistler, Hon. Ted Kulongoski, Hon. Jean Maurer, Sonya Montalbano, and former first lady Mary Obersrt judge the competition. Kelly Tymchuk, with his usual wit, emceed the event. Congratulations to our winners – Mitra Shahri and Greg Levinson!

As a twist to this year’s competition, we asked each comedian to set up a sponsorship page with a goal of raising money and bringing new donors to the Campaign. Mitra Shahri won both awards by raising $2,515 from 37 donors!

More than 250 volunteers and judges volunteered to help with the Campaign’s education and outreach efforts, our efforts to stabilize state and federal funding, and on the annual fund drive. Thank you to all of our volunteers for their success.

Legal aid also extends its gratitude to 800 lawyers who have provided pro bono services through legal aid’s many pro bono programs. Their names are not listed here, but we work to acknowledge their support in the regions around the state.

Volunteers Help Raise Campaign Funds

I am here today to give thanks. To the 92 legal aid lawyers who give quality legal services to low income and elderly Oregnians, to the dedicated staff members who support that work in countless ways, to the legion of volunteer lawyers in this room who fill the growing service gap with their time and financial help, and to the many legal aid employees who, in the past year, have lost their own jobs due to funding cuts.

By giving of yourselves so generously, each of you has contributed to the critical reserves of trust and hope on which the rule of law depends for its life’s blood. What is encouraging to me as I look at you faces today is the steady determination of Oregon’s legal community to step up with a helper’s spirit to fill the breach. When you consider that almost 800,000 people in a state of 3.5 million now qualify for legal aid services, a number that reflects about a 20% increase over the past 4 years, it’s easy to see what’s at stake.

Now, more than ever, the ranks of the poor are being filled with folks who, just a few years ago, were pulling down family wage or higher incomes. The foreclosure rate has risen so high that Oregon’s is the third highest in the nation. We all know that, because of depressed property values and high unemployment, a wave of Oregon homeowners are now income eligible for legal aid services and very much in need. But whether they’re enduring intergenerational or transitional poverty, these people are our neighbors and friends. And they understand, at an intensely personal level, how poverty eats at your soul and your self esteem, and creates a sense of hopelessness.

These are hard times, and they’re not over, but the institutions that have been built to support Legal Aid services throughout this state over the past 75 years, and the people who serve them, are more than up to the challenge. I am humbled by the service of the dedicated attorneys, staff, and all the volunteer lawyers in this state who work for the cause of legal aid. They make tremendous personal sacrifices to do that work. They contribute to those who are poor and in need of their help, and they contribute to the rest of us in the community who benefit from their work, most of the time without even knowing it. Everyone in this room contributes to the fulfillment of the ideals that our framers enshrined in the constitution by helping real people get back on their feet. Oregon lawyers have no greater calling than to make the cause of equal justice flourish in courthouses and on the streets in every corner of the state.

So, pause for a moment to accept these sincere thanks, and then once, with vigor, let’s get back to the job. Thank you.
Individuals, Law Firms, Businesses & Organizations by Region

Albany Region

Congratulations to Albany region lawyers, who had the largest percent increase in the number of lawyers giving to the Campaign in 2011. The Albany Regional legal aid office participates in the local Poverty Summit Work Group, an annual housing planning meeting, a multi-disciplinary task force on elder abuse and, the Linn County Circuit Court Mediation-Arbitration Commission.

For information on case types handled by legal aid offices, see centerfold section.

Central Oregon Region

The Central Oregon office of legal aid serves clients in person at their office on the Rosie Bareis Community Campus in Bend. In addition, clients can apply for services by phone or at monthly outreach trips to Madras, Warm Springs, Prineville, and LaPine. The Central Oregon office also runs a quarterly Pro-Bono Bankruptcy Clinic with the help of volunteer lawyers. The clients in the program are all low-income, and most have wage garnishments that make it hard for them to pay for basic living expenses.

For information on case types handled by legal aid offices, see centerfold section.

Central Oregon CEJ Luncheon

During some of the year’s worst weather in Bend, more than 85 attorneys came to the Central Oregon CEJ Luncheon. The steering committee was led by Howie Arnett and Dennis Karnopp, both of Karnopp Peterson; Art Halpern, Elie Halpern and Associates; and Leigh Dickey and Andrea Malone, both of LASO. Dennis Karnopp spoke about the early days of legal aid and the Campaign for Equal Justice in Central Oregon. Legal aid attorney, Andrea Malone, share a story about helping domestic violence survivor, “Catherine,” stay safe during her divorce proceedings against her abuser. Howie Arnett encouraged lawyers to donate to the Campaign. Howie explained the importance of contributing to the CEJ and stressed the obligation that lawyers have to make sure low-income Oregonians can access the legal system. Central Oregon lawyers raised almost $20,000 for the Campaign this year.

Dear Friends:

During the past 18 months, Oregon’s legal aid programs have been hard hit by declining revenues in the range of 25%. Despite these declines in revenue, the hardworking individuals staffing the legal aid offices statewide continue to provide excellent service to our most vulnerable Oregonians. Without your generosity, our cuts would have been deeper.

This Spring, the four legal aid programs in Oregon joined the Oregon State Bar, Oregon Law Foundation and Campaign for Equal Justice to start a statewide strategic planning process. We are planning for the future: both short term and long term as we adjust to declining revenue and increased demand for services. We’re also looking at ways to increase efficiency.

Our current strategic planning is guided by the Oregon State Bar Standards and Guidelines. Those Guidelines provide a road map for legal services delivery, including maintaining relatively equal access to justice for low-income Oregonians across the state and setting community-based priorities. This means an effort to maintain a presence in rural and urban Oregon.

We greatly appreciate your support for legal aid and we value the long-standing commitment that Oregon lawyers have to support access to justice. Your help makes a difference in the lives of low income Oregonians in need of legal help. Thank you!

Sincerely,

David L. Ivens

Jackson County

The Center for Non-Profit Legal Services has seen an increase in the number of employment-related issues that are affecting homeless and veteran clients. In order to address these problems, the office started the Protecting Our Veterans Project by recruiting pro bono attorneys to increase the office's capacity to handle or refer criminal record expungement and employment discrimination and wage claims cases.

For information on case types handled by legal aid offices, see centerfold section.

Jackson County CEJ Luncheon

Jackson County hosted its third annual CEJ Luncheon in Medford, at the Jackson County Courthouse. The event was organized by Jackson County Co-Chairs J Adam Peterson, Jackson County DA's Office; and Hon Tim Gerking, Jackson County Circuit Court judge; with the assistance of Jamie Hazlett; Debra Lee, Center for Non-Profit Legal Services; and Tracy McGovern, Frohnmayer Deatherage. Former Chief Justice De Muniz of the Oregon Supreme Court spoke about the importance of a functioning judiciary that includes adequate funding for the court, legal aid, and defense. Legal aid lawyer Jim Sims told us about helping "Angelica," a disabled seven-year-old who needed assistance to prevent her SSI from being terminated. Jackson County lawyers raised more than $21,000 for the Campaign this year.

Josephine County

In order to meet the great demand and lack of resources in the community, the Grants Pass Office teaches regular divorce and custody pro se filing classes. Legal aid works closely with the local community action agency, the domestic violence council, and a multi-disciplinary task force to better address domestic violence, sexual assault and other priority issues impacting the low-income community. The office also staffs a weekly senior hotline funded by the local Senior Center.

Klamath Region

The staff at the Klamath Falls regional office of legal aid has noticed a recent increase in domestic violence related cases. They conduct outreach by traveling to outlying rural towns in conjunction with community partners; participating on local multidisciplinary teams to address domestic violence, sexual assault, and elder abuse; and conducting informational presentations and seminars at the Klamath Senior Center.

Lane County

Lane County’s legal aid programs have a Senior Law Service component that has an active community education program. Staff provides educational sessions on various topics related to the legal needs of seniors. The sessions normally take place at local senior centers. Staff also recruits pro bono attorneys to participate in these sessions. The Senior Law Service program has published a number of pamphlets, and contributed to Elder Law in Oregon, which was a joint program with the Portland Regional Office of LASO.

Lincoln County

The Lincoln County Regional Office sees a lot of clients dealing with transient housing issues, particularly where motels, hotels, and motorcars are used as tenant housing. In several instances the office has intervened where a lodging provider was attempting to oust a person who was a tenant as defined under Oregon law as if they were a transient resident. In addition to client representation, these cases usually involve education of the landlord and law enforcement.

LEGAL AID SERVICES

Lincoln County legal aid office staff

The Campaign for Equal Justice joined the Oregon State Bar and the Oregon Law Center for ABA Lobby Day in Washington, D.C. to lobby for stable funding for the national Legal Services Corporation. The group was met with a warm reception by Oregon’s Senators and Representatives, who all expressed concern about drops in funding for legal aid.

Marion-Polk Region

The Salem-area legal aid offices have recently helped clients resolve housing problems such as non-functioning water and sewer systems. Office staff works closely with the local domestic violence shelter, NW Senior & Disability Services, the Salvation Army homeless shelter, Willamette Valley Community Action Agency, and other organizations serving the low-income community. Retired attorneys in the area participate in the ELVIS (Emeritus Lawyer Volunteers in Service) Program, providing approximately three clinics a month to help older clients with legal issues affecting seniors.

Marion-Polk CEJ Luncheon

This year marked the 15th Annual Marion - Polk CEJ luncheon. Approximately 275 lawyers came to the Mission Mill Museum in Salem on September 28, 2011. The Marion-Polk Committee, chaired by Andrew Shull, Department of Justice, and Michelle Vlach-Ing raised more than $7,000 in support of legal aid. They were assisted by Dorothy Bean, Saalfeld Griggs; Norma Freitas, Willamette University College of Law; Russell Getchell, Sherman Sherman Johnnie & Hoyt; Audrey Hirsch, Department of Justice; and Carla Mikkelson. Attorneys gathered to hear Chief Justice De Munis speak about the importance of access to justice. Judge Mary James and Carla Mikkelson of LASO were given awards for their outstanding service to the Campaign. Legal aid lawyer, Peter James, told us about helping “Elena,” a mother suffering from long-term effects of treatment for brain cancer, and her fight to receive SSI benefits.
Multnomah County Region

The Portland Regional Office of Legal Aid Services of Oregon and Oregon Law Center serve the largest poverty population in the state. Office staff works closely with local domestic violence shelters, culturally specific programs such as El Programa Hispano, Self Enhancement Inc., Russian Oregon Social Services, Native American Youth and Family Services, and other agencies that serve the county’s low-income community. Thousands of clients are served every year through pro bono legal services provided through volunteer lawyer-staffed clinics, as well as the ProBonoOregon listserv which assists OLC and LASO offices in placing individual cases needing pro bono assistance with attorneys who wish to volunteer.

The Campaign for Equal Justice

The Campaign for Equal Justice (CEJ) was established in 1991 by Oregon lawyers with the mission of ensuring that equal access to justice becomes a reality for all Oregonians. You help us:

- Operate an Annual Fund drive with the help of over 250 volunteers
- Educate lawyers and the community about the importance of access to justice and how legal services are delivered in Oregon
- Work with lawyer volunteers and bar organizations to increase state and federal funding for legal aid
- Assist legal aid programs in increasing revenue through foundation support
- Operate an Endowment to preserve the future of legal aid

Since 1991, the Oregon legal community has helped the Campaign raise $21 million for legal aid. Despite the tremendous efforts of our volunteers and contributors, we still meet less than 20% of the legitimate legal needs of Oregon’s poor.

Thank you for your help!

*This figure does not reflect grants obtained by legal aid programs as a result of CEJ’s efforts, nor does the figure reflect increases in state and federal funding due to CEJ’s efforts.

Oregon’s legal aid programs do not engage in separate annual fund activities, but rely on the work of the Campaign for Equal Justice to have a collaborative statewide effort to support legal aid statewide.

The following organizations provide support for the operating expenses of the Campaign: The Oregon State Bar, The Oregon Law Foundation, and the Rose Tucker Charitable Trust.

HELPING OUR SENIORS

Dong and Cathy Jey live on $1,000 social security disability every month. After Dong had two surgeries, life became chaotic. When their mortgage was transferred to another company, they began getting an extra $100 per month charge they could not afford. Legal aid helped them recover all the fees that had been illegally charged and also saved their home from being at risk of foreclosure. Cathy said, “I could not have handled this alone. Having someone who knows the law... it was a lot of help.”

ENSURING ESSENTIAL SERVICES

Ellen was fired after reporting discrimination in the workplace. As a single mother of two, she was concerned about making ends meet. When she was denied unemployment benefits, she turned to legal aid for help. After a long hearing, Ellen won her appeal. With her unemployment benefits, she can pay her rent. Ellen told us, “I am really appreciative. Without the help I wasn’t going to win. I was very nervous and didn’t know what to say.”
Help Fund

Legal Aid Offices

Legal aid currently has offices in 17 communities and provides services to low-income clients in all 36 Oregon counties. Legal aid directly serves about 25,000 low-income clients, and works to stretch its limited resources with pro se materials, self-help programs and pro bono programs. Many of those materials are on legal aid’s website, www.oregonlawhelp.org, which received more than 400,000 page views last year. Women make up 80% of legal aid’s clients — and most of them have children.

Pro Bono Programs

Volunteer lawyers help legal aid meet the needs of the poor by working with legal aid offices around the state. Legal aid’s pro bono programs are tailored to the needs of low-income clients and the available resources in the particular community, and are not identical statewide. The Portland regional legal aid offices operate the Volunteer Lawyers Project and legal aid offices around the state offer a variety of subject matter and population-specific clinics such as the Domestic Violence Project, the Senior Law Project, the Bankruptcy Clinic, ELVIS (Emeritus Lawyer Volunteers in Service), the Statewide Tax Clinic, and a clinic for Spanish speaking clients. In some regions, volunteer lawyers assist with intake, or provide mentoring on specific cases or subject areas. The Pro Bono Oregon listserv is a weekly email listserv of pro bono cases around the state, providing easy matching of pro bono lawyers to low-income clients. To sign up for the listserv and join legal aid’s advocate website go to www.oregonadvocates.org and then join the listserv.

2011 Legal Aid Funding Sources

Oregon’s legal aid programs manage over 80 different sources of funding.

LEGAL AID

Because of limited resources, legal aid offices in each community work to set priorities in order to serve the most dire needs of low-income clients. In addition to direct client service and self-help materials, legal aid lawyers work with community organizations that serve low-income clients. Some examples include work with the Domestic Violence Emergency Response Team, the Lane County Housing and Community Services Agency, the State Family Law Advisory Committee, domestic violence, and homeless shelters, and organizations that serve senior citizens and the homeless.

SUPPORTING FAMILIES

Helen is the mother of five young daughters. She endured serious domestic violence at the hands of her husband, which her children often witnessed. When Helen’s husband threw her out of the home and denied her requests to see the children, Helen turned to legal aid for help. She obtained a restraining order and a divorce, so she and her children could be safe. Helen and her daughters are now safe from the violence they suffered every day.

Lawyers in Multnomah County raised almost $700,000 in the annual fund drive. Campaign volunteers worked in committees (photos above). The Associates Committee held two events: Party Under the Stars and a Showing of My Cousin Vinny at the Hollywood Theater. Portland’s large and mid-sized firms held creative fundraisers to encourage giving. The Multnomah County Bar Association contributed $25,000 to the Campaign in support of legal aid’s pro bono programs.

Creative Fundraisers Inspire Attorneys and Staff to Donate

T his year, the Associates Committee worked on bringing new donors to the Campaign through events at law firms. Entertaining events like chili cook-offs, Sweet Justice (dessert baking competitions), Jeans Day, and CEJ week were only a few ways that Associates Committee members garnered support for CEJ and Oregon legal aid programs. These events were for lawyers and staff alike.

Controversial lemon bars here.

The Native American Program (NAPOLS) focuses on the protection of Indian rights in four areas of law: federal probate; family or juvenile law issues in tribal court; denial of state benefits where relatives are caring for children placed with them by orders from a tribal court; and advocacy on behalf of applicants seeking tribal enrollment. In addition, NAPOLS works to provide improvement to trial court infrastructure through advocacy and education about tribal code; ethical issues; and how the tribe fits within state, federal, and local laws. Partnerships among tribes have resulted in pro se forms that allow members to represent themselves on routine matters.

Ontario Region

The geographic area served by the Ontario Office of the Oregon Law Center is the size of Massachusetts and Connecticut combined. Two attorneys travel the region to meet with clients. According to regional director Mandy Weeks, "Our region has been hit hard by the economy. We have seen many cases where clients aren’t paid, minimum wage by their employers, and we’re here to help." The office works closely with the domestic violence shelters in the four counties and receives referrals from many other local agencies and non-profits. Office staff coordinates work by private attorneys volunteering to help low-income clients.

Pendleton Region

The Pendleton Regional Office has seen an increase in the number of clients troubled by financial scams during the recession. Accordingly, the office added this issue to its list of priorities and has helped clients fight an out-of-state home loan modification company that charged thousands of dollars to individuals to obtain federal mortgage loan modification forms that could be obtained for free. Regional Director Arron Guevara sends a special thanks to the many pro bono lawyers in the region who have stepped up to work with legal aid in order to stretch limited resources.

Legal Aid Lawyer Profile: Debra Dority

Debra Dority is a staff attorney at the Hillsboro Regional Office of the Oregon Law Center. A graduate of the University of Cincinnati College of Law, she has been a legal aid lawyer since 2005. The Oregon Law Center is part of the statewide network of legal aid programs that provide free legal services to low-income Oregonians. The Hillsboro Regional Office serves people from Clackamas, Columbia, Tillamook, Washington, and Yamhill Counties.

Prior to working in Hillsboro, Debra worked as a staff attorney in the Pendleton legal aid office. At both offices, Debra’s practice has focused on providing legal services to rural victims/survivors of domestic violence, sexual assault, stalking, and other related cases. She has also represented clients in a Title IX sexual discrimination case and an international abduction case. Debra finds one of the most rewarding aspects is seeing clients become empowered to advocate for themselves.

Debra is an active member of the community where she practices. She is the Vice Chair of the board of directors for the Sexual Assault Resource Center, a member of the Oregon State Bar Family Law Section Executive Committee, a member of the Clackamas County Local Family Law Advocacy Committee, and a member of the Justice League, a subcommittee of the Washington County Domestic Violence Intervention Committee. When asked why she became a legal aid attorney, Debra told CEJ, “I decided to go to law school so I could help those who do not have access to justice in the legal system. Domestic violence and sexual assault are an epidemic and we need to make sure that the victims-survivors’ voices are heard.”

In addition to Debra’s busy practice, she enjoys coaching a local kickboxing and strength training class six times a week.
In order to serve more low-income Oregonians, the Roseburg Regional Office teaches self-help classes each month on divorce, custody, trial skills, and has recently added a class in negotiation skills. Clients who have attended the classes may schedule individual follow-up appointments to finalize paperwork or discuss legal questions. The office also assisted the Douglas County Housing and Homeless Coalition in forming a non-profit corporation.

Washington County Region

The Hillsboro Regional Office has been working with veterans who have been scanned by a long-term care facility. The scam is apparently impacting veterans around the country. These veterans signed up for long-term care facilities after attending seminars touting Veteran’s Administration Aid benefits. They were promised that their expenses would be covered by the benefits, but experienced delays in qualifying for the VA benefit and were charged market price for facility care. The clients’ issues were resolved. Attorneys at the office have participated in a local court rules committee, Homeless Outreach events, and Veterans’ Stand-Down events.

Farmworker Program

The LASO and OLC Farmworker Programs represent migrant and seasonal farmworkers with employment, housing, occupational health and safety, and individual rights as priorities set by the communities. In addition, they provide culturally and linguistically appropriate community education through presentations and radio shows on basic topics such as labor contractor’s responsibilities, unemployment and tax problems, discrimination issues including workplace sexual harassment, unpaid wages, field sanitation and other health and safety laws. The Farmworker Programs help clients statewide from offices in Hillsboro, Pendleton, and Woodburn.

Valentin Sanchez, former Chief Justice De Muniz, Julie Samples, and Santiago Ventura celebrate the success of the Farmworker Program at the CEJ Annual Awards Luncheon.
Continuing a Tradition

Preserving the Future of Legal Aid

One sure way you can preserve the future of legal aid is to make a legacy gift to the Endowment Fund of the Campaign for Equal Justice. The Endowment Fund began in 2001 to support the future of Oregon's statewide legal aid programs. The Campaign is an endowment partner with the Oregon Community Foundation, and funds are held by OCF. With the most recent support of the estate of Salem lawyer Edward (“ Ned”) Clark, the fund has reached $425,000, with outstanding bequests estimated at $250,000. The goal is to build the Endowment to $1 million over the next few years so that we can begin making distributions on the earnings.

Please consider naming the Campaign’s Endowment Fund in your will, or consider making the Fund a recipient of a Charitable Remainder Trust, gift annuity, life insurance policy, or appreciated stock. Contact Sandy Hansberger at sandy@cej-oregon.org or (503) 295-5842. The Oregon Community Foundation can also provide guidance on all aspects of estate planning.

A Call to Action

As Oregonians continue to face daunting challenges from the economic crisis, legal aid programs that provide low-income Oregonians assistance with civil law matters such as safety from domestic violence, and issues relating to unemployment benefits, housing and foreclosure matters have had to cut 16% of their staff and face further deep funding cuts for the next two years. Now more than ever it is important to join us in supporting legal aid programs in your community.

What You Can Do to Help Legal Aid in Your Community

- Understand how funding for legal aid works and support increased funding on both the state and federal level. Supporting access to justice is a bipartisan cause.
- Give generously to the Campaign for Equal Justice. The best way to increase access is to create more legal aid attorney positions. Go to www.cej-oregon.org to make a donation.
- Where you bank matters! Put your lawyer trust account funds with a “Leadership Bank.” These banks are committed to maximizing the rate of return on IOLTA accounts. The interest from these accounts is distributed by the Oregon Law Foundation. Go to www.oregonlawfoundation.org to locate the Leadership Banks in your community.
- Do pro bono work through your local legal aid office. Administrative resources are often limited, so please be patient. Sign up for the Pro Bono Oregon listserv – join the support website www.oregonandadvocates.org and from there join the ProBonoOregon listserv under the listserv tab. When you join the listserv you will receive a weekly email with available pro bono cases.
- Frequently review your IOLTA account for abandoned client funds. These funds are now paid to the Oregon State Bar for appropriation to legal aid through the Oregon State Bar’s Legal Services Program.
- Include the Endowment Fund in your estate plan. Gifts and bequests to the Endowment Fund will grow to be a source of perpetual, stable support for Oregon's legal programs and a lasting legacy for donors. For more information go to www.cej-oregon.org and click on the Endowment link.
- Understand how legal services are delivered in your community so that you can make appropriate referrals for low-income clients.
- Become involved in your local legal aid offices’ priority setting. Periodically, your local offices seek input on the legal needs of the low-income client community and the priority of these legal needs.
- If your bar group would like to be added to this Call to Action, please contact the CEJ at 503-295-8442 or visit us online at www.cej-oregon.org.
